Article 5

To administer and facilitate this cooperation, each party will designate an appropriate officer to coordinate activities resulting from this cooperation.

Article 6

1. Any Intellectual Property Right brought by one of the Parties for the implementation of the cooperation activities under this MoU shall remain the property of that Party. However, that Party shall indemnify that the intellectual property right has not resulted from the infringement of any third Part's legitimate rights. Further, that Party shall be liable for any claim made by and third Party on the ownership and legality of the use of the intellectual property right which is brought in by the aforementioned Party for the implementation of the cooperation activities under this MoU.

2. Any Intellectual Property Right, data and information resulting from research activities conducted under this MoU shall jointly be owned by two Parties, and both Parties shall be allowed to use such property for non-commercial purposes free of royalty.

3. If either of Parties wishes to disclose confidential data/or information resulting from the cooperation activities under the MoU to any third Party, the disclosing Party must obtain prior consent from the other Party before and disclosures can be made.

Article 7

Difference arising out of the interpretation on the implementation of the MoU shall be settled amicably by consultation or negotiation between the Parties.

Article 8

Either party shall be entitled to obtain such publicity as it considers necessary relating to the subject matter, provided that any press releases and other material (including electronic) shall be approved as to form and content by both parties in writing.

Article 9

This MoU will remain in force for five (5) years and will become effective upon the date of signature by duly authorized representatives of both parties. The terms of the MoU can be modified at any time by mutual agreement communicated in writing. The MoU can be terminated upon written request by either party 90 days in advance.
